

Jill Demko
Technical Training Officer
National Transportation Safety Board

Ms. Jill Demko is a Technical Training Officer with the National Transportation Safety Board. In this position, she is responsible for developing technical training for domestic and international accident investigators. She also serves as an Instructor in many of the NTSB's public accident investigation courses. Previous to holding this position, she served as an Air Safety Investigator with the NTSB for 13 years. During this time, she was the Investigator-In-Charge (IIC) of numerous accidents involving air carrier, air taxi and general aviation aircraft. Additionally, she was appointed as the U.S. Accredited Representative for numerous international investigations, including an MD-82 accident in Phuket, Thailand.

Ms. Demko is a certified flight instructor and commercial pilot. She is also a certified dispatcher.

Ms. Demko earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Aviation Management with Flight from Florida Institute of Technology, and a Masters of Aeronautical Science degree with specializations in operations and safety from Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University.

Prior to working for the NTSB, she worked in various flight operations positions at a regional airline. Ms. Demko has also taught numerous courses in Accident Investigation and Systems Safety, as an Adjunct Professor for Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University.